INTRODUCTION

“New York is to the nation what the white church spire is to the village - the visible symbol of aspiration and faith, the white plume saying the way is up!”

- E.B. White

New York is the city of cities, the capital of culture, creativity, and, yes, money. To a visitor, it can feel like a combination of roller coaster and steamroller.

Don't let yourself be intimidated. Meet New York on your terms. Your trip is about you having a good time and that means finding your New York. You don't have to do or see anything, no matter how touted the museum, restaurant, or show may be. Many visitors spend their stays walking and exploring, and lots of people consider that the best way to know the city. But if you want to gorge on theater, well, curtains up. If you want to see the fascinating outer boroughs and ignore the Manhattan cacophony, go for it. If you want to hit trendy clubs and restaurants, pack your sharpest clothes. If you want to discover leafy residential enclaves and off-the-beaten track museums, feel free. If you just want to shop, you have officially entered paradise.

New York is one of the most exciting, glamorous, and important cities in history. It is ever changing, morphing, evolving, all light and movement rushing fearlessly towards the future. New Yorkers are complex - smart, savvy, tolerant, talented, fun, tough, curious, generous - they love their city, and they love to share the love. Visit New York with an open mind and an open heart - they will be filled to overflowing.
